

INVITATION to PRESENTATION and DISCUSSION

Modern Day Slavery is the human rights issue of our time -

A discourse about social innovations for effective crime prevention in Human Trafficking

Representatives from the AAI, UNODC, YHRI, and HTITI will present their joint efforts in promoting awareness of human trafficking among flight crew, police, military and civil society; emphasis will be on innovative ways of using education as a tool to reduce crime effectively and to promote efforts to prevent crimes. Speakers will showcase the concrete results of their partnership already implemented in many countries and which can be tailored to reach a wider audience.

Panelists will present ways to detect signs of human trafficking and discuss how to react appropriately to prevent serious crimes from happening within one's sphere of influence. Following that, they will elaborate on how similar programs can be implemented throughout other countries and within a larger global alliance and public-private partnership.

The public is invited to ask questions and to exchange ideas.
